

What Is Claimed Is:

1. An indoor decorative paper comprised of:

a wallpaper having distinctive patterns in upper and lower parts, and of which rear surface is coated with an adhesive and pasted on walls; and

5 a ceiling paper having no distinctive pattern between upper and lower parts, or having no patterns, and of which rear surface is coated with an adhesive and pasted on ceilings.

2. The indoor decorative paper according to claim 1, wherein a front surface 10 of the ceiling paper has no patterns.

3. The indoor decorative paper according to claim 1, wherein patterns on the front surface of the ceiling paper are not distinctive between upper and lower parts.

15 4. The indoor decorative paper according to claim 1, wherein patterns on the front surface of the wallpaper are all different.

5. The indoor decorative paper according to claim 3, wherein at least two colors are used for the front surfaces of the wallpaper and the ceiling paper.

20

6. An indoor decoration method, comprising the steps of:

applying an adhesive to a rear surface of a wallpaper having distinctive patterns between upper and lower parts, and pasting the wallpaper on walls; and applying an adhesive to a rear surface of a ceiling paper having no distinctive 25 patterns between upper and lower parts, or having no patterns, and pasting the ceiling paper on ceilings.

7. The indoor decorative paper according to claim 2, wherein patterns on the front surface of the wallpaper are all different.

5 8. The indoor decorative paper according to claim 3, wherein patterns on the front surface of the wallpaper are all different.